What the F is Facebook?

facebook.com/AskAbbyStokes

The image shows a screenshot of the Facebook profile page for Abby Stokes. At the top, there are navigation tabs for Page, Messages, Notifications (with a red badge for 15), Insights, and Posts. The profile picture is a headshot of Abby Stokes, a woman with blonde hair wearing a white top. To the right of the profile picture is a large orange banner for her book, "IS THIS THING ON?" with the subtitle "3RD EDITION COMPLETELY REVISED AND UPDATED". Below the banner, the name "Abby Stokes" and the title "Author" are displayed. There are buttons for "Create Call-to-Action", "Liked", and "Message".

Below the profile information, there are tabs for Timeline, About, Photos, Likes, and More. The main content area shows a post from Abby Stokes dated April 15 at 8:35am. The post text reads: "What the F are Facebook, Twitter, & LinkedIn? Send your parents & grandparents, as well as any job seekers, to find out. I'll be speaking at Senior Planet (127 West 25th St) this Friday (4/17) from 1-2:30." Below the text is a photo of Abby Stokes at a book signing event, standing next to a copy of her book.

On the left side of the page, there is a "PEOPLE" section showing 298 likes and a list of people who liked the post, including Casi Grabill, Jane Oliver, and 195 others. There is also a "Promote Your Page" section with a globe icon and a "Promote Page" button. At the bottom left, there is a section for inviting friends to like the page, with buttons for "Invite" next to Christine Guld and Kerry Holmes.

Big shout out to Richard Oliver!!!! Once again showing up and saving the day. Now we both know about frozen drain pipes! It was an interesting day.

Thanks very much Rich!

Teachers & Librarians

“Google can bring you back 100,000 answers, a librarian can bring you back the right one.” - NEIL GAIMAN

None of us will ever forget that important teacher or librarian who helped us find what we needed, see what we couldn't, and learn what we must. The resources on this site are to support those wonderful teachers and librarians with their important work.

Some of the resources (for example: the How to Access the World Wide Web or Choosing a Safe Password) can be printed for distribution or laminated and set out by a computer station or emailed to someone who is homebound. Job Seekers Online Resources offers embedded web links meant to be accessed directly from this site. So, in that case, it's best used hands-on while in front of a computer.

My lesson plans are yours for the taking to help frame your computer classes. If your students are interested in purchasing “Is This Thing On?” my publisher offers a 40% discount for the purchase of 10 or more books. Zap me an email (abby@askabbystokes.com) and I'll connect you.

How To Turn Your Emoji On

Emojis, introduced by the Japanese, are a more sophisticated version of emoticons (p. 276, Chapter 17 Advanced Email) used on tablets and smartphones. Instead of being made with symbols on the keyboard, they are tiny, simple illustrations that can help you make a point.

There are two sets of step-by-step instructions below. The first set is for the iPhone or iPad. The second set of instructions are for an Android device using Google's operating system.

iPhone & iPad Instructions

To activate Emojis:

- 1) Tap Settings .
- 2) Tap General.
- 3) Scroll down to Keyboard, tap on Keyboard.
- 4) Tap the Keyboards on this new page.
- 5) Tap on Add New Keyboard.
- 6) Scroll down to Emoji, tap on Emoji.

To use Emojis:

- 1) Tap on Emoji button  on the keyboard at the bottom left.
- 2) Flick your finger from right to left or left to right to reveal possible choices (Note the small circles indicate how many pages there are to view.)
