RSS

- RSS stands for Really Simple Syndication
- RSS is a means by which one can easily obtain fresh content from websites and blogs; this content is usually updated on a regular basis, so the type of content you will find is typically news and regularly updated information.

RSS

In the 'old days' of the web, to keep track of updates on a website you had to 'bookmark' websites in your browser and manually return to them on a regular basis to see what had been added.

The problems with bookmarking

- You as the web surfer had to do all the work
- It can get complicated when you are trying to track many websites at once
- You miss information when you forget to check your bookmarks
- You end up seeing the same information over and over again on sites that don't update very often

RSS

RSS flips things around a little and is a technology that provides you with a method of getting relevant and up to date information sent to you for you to read in your own time. It saves you time and helps you to get the information you want quickly after it was published.

Many people describe RSS as a 'news feed' that you subscribe to.

How to Read an RSS Feed

- Get an RSS Reader – The first thing you'll want to do if you're getting into reading sites via RSS is to hook yourself up with an RSS Feed Reader. I use Feedly

<https://youtu.be/05KEGBkLZRE>

Evernote

- Evernote is software that allows users to create a "note" which can be a piece of formatted text, a full webpage or webpage excerpt, a photograph, a voice memo, or a handwritten "ink" note.
- Notes can also have file attachments.
- Notes can be sorted into folders, tagged, annotated, edited, given comments, searched, and exported as part of a notebook.
- Evernote supports a number of operating system platforms (including OS X, iOS, Chrome OS, Android, Microsoft Windows, Windows Phone, BlackBerry, and webOS)
- It also offers online synchronization and backup services.

What IS The Main Ingredient of WD-40?

WD-40 ~ Who knew!

I had a neighbor who bought a new pickup.

I got up very early one Sunday morning and saw that someone had spray painted red all around the sides of this beige truck (for some unknown reason).

I went over, woke him up, and told him the bad news.

He was very upset and was trying to figure out what to do....

probably nothing until Monday morning, since nothing was open.

Another neighbor came out and told him to get his WD-40 and clean it off.

It removed the unwanted paint beautifully and did not harm his paint job that was on the truck. I was impressed!

WD-40 who knew?

"Water Displacement #40".

The product began from a search for a rust preventative solvent and degreaser to protect missile parts.
